

Permitting Roundtables: Interagency Collaboration Update

Updated November 2025

Initiating "Permitting Roundtables"

NTIA recently completed interagency permitting meetings in all BEAD Regions to prepare federal officials to efficiently process broadband applications.

PERMITTING ROUNDTABLES

The purpose of Permitting Roundtables is to establish proactive lines of communication between local, state, territorial, and federal agencies.

Holding routine Permitting Roundtable meetings can create a forum for early resolution of project-specific permitting issues among stakeholders.

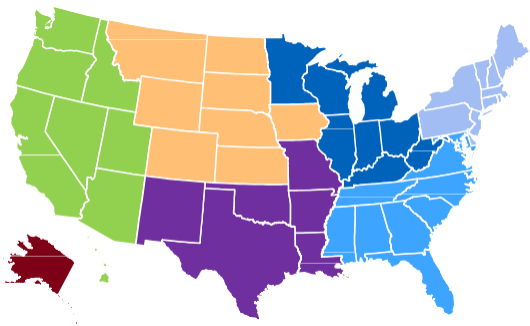

NTIA and federal permitting officials discussed support for future BEAD permitting demands, including establishing state-based Permitting Roundtables.

NTIA is developing Best Practices for Permitting Roundtables to ensure that implementation is informed by federal partner collaboration, input from State/Territory Broadband Offices, and examples from successful programs.

INTERAGENCY REGIONAL PERMITTING PILOTS

NTIA held Regional Interagency Broadband Permitting Meetings between September 2023 and April 2024 to share broadband program and permitting information and establish relationships with key with federal participants.

Regions:

- September 2023: Northern Plains
- October 2023: Midwest
- November 2023: West
- December 2023: Northeast
- January 2024: Southeast
- February 2024: Southwest
- March-April 2024: Alaska/Territories

Permitting Roundtables will be launched at the state and territory level, including NTIA, SBOs/TBOs, and other federal agencies as participants.
